It has taken quite a long time than we had expected to bring out this edition of Mausam...talking climate in public space and we hope that there will be greater continuity in bringing debates, discussions, views and analysis around the issues of climate crisis and climate justice to the public domain through this in future.

Â

We invite your comments, views, suggestions, and, of course, contributions -- stories, reports, analyses, opinions, exposes, case studies, anecdotes, and facts -- to enrich the public space Mausam has sought to create.
